Lee's fight against AIDS

THANKS TO THE TRIBUNE for the articles Dec. 1, which was World AIDS Day, and Dec. 2.

The photo of Congresswoman Barbara Lee getting tested for HIV/AIDS is an example of her tireless and courageous efforts to stop AIDS. She and her staff deserve our thanks for their work to legislate and fund treatment and prevention programs in our foreign aid and domestic budgets.

Many organizations and individuals are working around the globe to end HIV/AIDS and I appreciate the coverage the Tribune gave.
